

IDEA #4

Lie Detector Phone

This one is for obvious reasons, so useful. Activated when phone call begins first begins. The phone automatically detects and analyses the voice stress then vibrates in your hand when it thinks there's a lie being told.

Brian: "Hey honey! How's that poker game with the guys going? Gonna go on for a while?"

Laura: "Oh it's great! I just won half the pot!"

Brian's phone vibrates

Laura: "uh huh"

Brian: "Oh yea I'm really raking it in here! ()"

Laura's phone vibrates twice

Laura: "Look honey, its ok if you lost a little cash; just make sure you don't lose your shirt... You can stay out as late as you want though!"

Brian: "OK OK, I've lost a little... wow, shnookums, thanks you're being soo kind tonight! I guess I can't get anything by you now that you got that lie detector phone.... The kids told me about it a week ago. Good thing I wasn't off with some other woman and saying I was playing poker! Oh by the way..."

Laura: Interrupts what Brian was about to say and accidently laughs embarrassingly then she meekly says "yea, good thing!"

Brian's Phone Vibrates continuously in his hand

Brian: "... I... got a lie detector phone...."

Awkward silence

Maybe this invention is better left to the imagination.